

Marzano Teacher Evaluation Training

Caledonia Community Schools was one of the first districts in the area to adopt the Marzano Teacher Evaluation Model. District teachers and administrators began working with trainers from Learning Science International (LSI) during the summer of 2014. Over the past two years, district administrators and teachers have received extensive training on implementing the evaluation model. The focus for our teachers and has been learning the key instructional concepts associated with the models' design questions and elements. District administrators received additional training focused on observing and evaluating the implementation of the framework.

Training has been conducted in large/small group settings. Additional training is conducted in Professional Learning Communities by district administrators and teacher coaches. The district will continue to training teachers and administrators by using partnerships that have been established with neighboring districts and utilizing Learning Sciences International.
